Opera Terracotta

My passion for innovation in product design —inspired by the colors and textures of my childhood— led me to Umbria, a land where landscape, tradition and craftsmanship merge in perfect harmony. There, I had the privilege of embarking on a research project alongside true local master artisans, with the shared goal of translating these concepts into a product that bridges tradition and modernity.

At the heart of this research lie mother-of-pearl tones and precious glazing colors, whose subtle luminosity allowed me to reinterpret an entire color palette, infusing it with a contemporary nuance conceived especially for today's living spaces.

From this journey of inspiration and experimentation, the Opera Terracotta collection was born — a tribute to the spirit, craftsmanship and cultural heritage of Umbria's artisan traditions, expressed through a deeply considered palette of meaningful colors.

This project is profoundly connected to my soul and artistic values: a space where culture, tradition and heritage are honored while boundaries are pushed to give life to a contemporary vision. It is also an exploration of forms that embody the cutting edge of design innovation.

Opera / Made in Italy Terracotta

The story of the product

■ Terracotta has shaped Mediterranean architecture for centuries. Opera Terracotta reinterprets this heritage through refined surfaces, natural tones and precise geometries designed for contemporary spaces.

■ Each tile is crafted from carefully selected natural clay and fired under controlled temperatures to achieve durability and chromatic depth. Subtle variations in tone and texture enhance the natural character of the material, making every space unique.

■ Opera Terracotta is a hand-painted and individually crafted product that combines precious mother-of-pearl glazes precious glazes of mother pearl and terra oxidate finishes.

Uniqueness of the product

The richness of the collection comes from the careful combination of oxides, crystallines and glazes that interact during the firing process to create an extraordinary range of tones for contemporary spaces.
